

SUNDAY SERVICE.

ABANDON CONGREGATION AT THE PORT-STREET M. E. CHURCH.

The Able Sermon by Dr. A. C. Caswell an interesting subject—People who are willing but not Anxious to be Saved.

Dr. A. C. Caswell is acting pastor of the Port-street M. E. Church during the absence of Dr. Cantine, who is on a relaxation trip to San Francisco. The following are excuses from Dr. Caswell's sermons, delivered last night at the church, which is a large one, and was well filled. "For he who says there is no God is foolish, and if he is not convinced, shall never enter the Kingdom of Heaven."

"This world is full of skeptics," began the reverend gentleman. "We meet them everywhere. Anarchists and enemies of order are not church members. These people have no religious belief; they do not think there is a God; they mock and deride the church, which is doing its best to save their souls from an eternal fire. Robert Ingersoll, who but for his public utterances and his contempt of religion, is a most estimable man and citizen, has been trying for years to break the bulwarks of church organization. He has not been successful, as increased church membership constantly shows. He is the principal exponent of scepticism, but even his brilliant mind and talents, nor the talents and minds of millions of such men can destroy an organization which civilization has made its guarantee. The church will live and triumph to tell the tale of Ingersoll's failure.
It will proceed on its work of salvation, in the future as it has in the past, the companion and brother of enlightenment and knowledge. There is a God, and the Church is his child, born of Him and reared and watched over by Him. As a mother watches over her first born, so does God, through Jesus, His Son, watch the destinies of the Church. An honest skeptic, a man who believes himself right in his disbelief, is one to be pitied rather than condemned. He is like a child groping in the dark until he can see light.
Proper teaching and reasoning make such one see the error of his way, and he is generally in the end to be found bringing up the rear of the Church-fearing and Godbelieving procession. A great many people asked why they doubt the existence of a God or the divinity of our blessed Savior will tell you they have no proof of His existence; that He is an imaginary creation, and they cannot believe in the existence of anything which they cannot see. There comes a time in the lives of these skeptics when they turn to that invisible Almighty Power and ask assistance in their troubles. I once saw a man who wrangled his finger in a buggy wheel.
He thought himself badly hurt, and when the accident happened cried out, "Help me, O, my God!" As soon as he had recovered his fright and saw how badly he was actually hurt he exclaimed, "O, hell! I was an unbeliever and a skeptic the hour of my need, when I was glad to turn to his despised God for assistance and mercy. Men say they are open for belief, but my heart is a man who does not believe and de-spises God's word is not open for conviction. A lawyer never had as good an argument for a client as the church of God to prove its fallacy. We do not ask you to believe anything which cannot be proven, but we ask you to believe in a God who proves to you that you cannot prove to him the existence of a God is either a knave or a fool. If he is a knave he does not want to be convinced, and if he is a fool he has no sense. The church is only a question of time. There comes a day when man turns not to man for consolation;
the hour of death is the morning of a new life for some, and the midnight of the old one for others. Turn your thoughts to God, my friends. He is your Father. He is your friend. He watches over you as His children; He will help you in adversity.
Delay not your obligations. Make your peace with God and receive into that blessed life the happiness of your hereafter.
Come before it is too late. Your sins, be they ever so black, if you put your trust and faith in the great Ruler of Destinies, will be forgiven by Him. You will be cleansed and purified of your past, and clothed in the robe of life and pure of the future. "Thou art my children," says the good word, "and around these I have cast my blessing, that all the children of the earth might see that there are mine and sprung of me."

WANTS TO MAKE THE ROPES.

A Man Who Makes a Specialty of Hangman's Ropes.

Jacob Bupp of Wood's Run, Penn., has written to Sheriff Mason of Chicago for the contract for making the ropes with which to hang the condemned Anarchists. Mr.
Bupp has made the ropes used in every execution in this county since 1840, and nearly every one that has been used in the State. He lives on Shady avenue, in the Eleventh ward, Allegheny, and is about 67 years old, but tall and straight as an arrow.
In speaking with a Commercial-Gazette reporter about the way he made hangman's ropes, he said: "A hangman's rope is made of hemp, is five-eighths of an inch thick, and has four strands and a heart. The hemp after being well pounded is put through the hatchels. There are five of these made of the finest steel, firmly fixed in a wooden frame. The teeth in the first one are about one-quarter of an inch wide, and the last one is a half inch wide. The things needles.
The hemp is drawn through these like hair through a comb, until it is all the same size and perfectly free from loose fibre and dirt. Then comes the spinning into yarn.
When this is done the four strands of rope are made by fitting six strands of yarn in each. The usual number of strands in a hangman's rope is sixty-four. Then these strands are made into rope-closing, as we call it. The rope is not stretched, but well rubbed with beeswax until it becomes soft and pliable."

"I always tie the noose," continued Mr.
Bupp, "because half the sheriffs in the country do not know how to tie a hangman's knot. I have made the ropes which hung eighty-seven persons, and have just finished several more. The first one I made was for Mrs. Miller, who was hung at Williamsport in 1840. Then I made those which were used in the execution of Henry Yife and Charlotte Jones. I made three at one time for Allegheny County, two for Marshall and Freckle, who murdered a jeweler on Boy's Hill, and one for Mrs. Grider.
Among the next in this county were for Frank Small and Ward McConkey. The only pleasure I ever look making one of these instruments of death was when I made the one which hung Wifeau. I took special care to make it put in 134 strands to make it doubly strong.
I always keep a piece of every rope I make,
and have them about thirty feet long, so that the sheriff can cut off four or five feet to give to his friends."

Being directly interested in the building of a standard gauge railroad from Los Angeles along the foothills to Santa Monica, places us in position to offer some gilt-edged bargains at various points along the route. We are sole agents for the sale of lots in Prospect Hill subdivision, in the Lick Tract, where grading has already begun and the building of a $75,000 hotel, "The Winchester," will be pushed to completion as rapidly as men and material can do it. This is the finest and most beautiful subdivision in the county, and only fifteen minutes' ride from Spring street. The cars will be running to this subdivision by October 20th, and a fine depot will be built immediately. Strangers and tourists are especially invited to call at our office and inspect the plans for the hotel; also maps of subdivisions. We have also several other tracts or subdivisions on the line of railroad and boulevard, which we will be pleased to show our customers at any time. Sunset boulevard, as well as the Foothills Railroad, runs through or near all these tracts, and we can accommodate you with large or small lots or acre tracts on which large profits may be realized. Being interested in the railroad, we can show you just where the depot buildings and sidings will be, so you will know just where to select lots either for business or residence purposes. Our carriage is always ready, and we will take pleasure in showing any one who desires to purchase, or to furnish any information in regard to the above properties. Strangers are particularly invited to make our office their headquarters while in the city, where any information in regard to real estate or railroad matters will be cheerfully given. We have some fine bargains in

WHY MARSHAL RILEY IS NOT A SUCCESS.

Hundreds of Smugglers Operating All Along the Line—Not a Single Detective to Hold Them in Check.

"Smugglers and government-land thieves and Indian whisky criminals and counterfeiters, and, in fact, every kind of criminal named in the United States code are to be found in quantities of greater or less magnitude on the coast and away from the coast in Southern California," said United States Marshal Riley in the hearing of a Times reporter yesterday. "The Captain was not aware that a long-earred news-gatherer was near, or he would probably have been more careful in his statement, for it is a well-known fact among reporters of the Los Angeles press that he will not talk business if he thinks there is one of that much-abused fraternity within the hearing of his voice."

"Why don't you wipe them out?" asked Riley's companion. "Simply because I have no detectives. My deputies are well known in the first place, and in the second they do not have time to go out and work with these criminals as a trained detective would. Very often a United States detective will work right with a band of criminals two weeks or a month before he gets evidence enough to secure a conviction, but a deputy marshal cannot do that for the reason that Uncle Sam does not pay him for that kind of work. And another thing, his work is of such a nature that he is well known throughout his district, and the moment he sets his foot in a town or city where these people are carrying on their devilish work, his presence is known, and they are out of sight like a flash. Why, the very moment a man from my office sets foot in San Diego there is a general stampede, and you can't see a single one of the rascals on the streets for a week. No sir, there is no possible chance to capture these fellows against the Government so long as we are not given a corps of competent detectives and I do not see a chance for such good luck until the population of Southern California doubles, for the reason that the department does not believe in spending much money unless it is absolutely necessary, and the more people we have here, the kicking against criminals will grow in proportion."

"Yes, the crime is rampant here, but it is much larger now than a casual observer would believe. They are strung out all the way from San Pedro to San Diego and from that point to the Colorado River. San Diego has always been a harbor for smugglers and that class of people, but the business has grown to such an extent of late years that the rascals are scattered all along the coast and it will be impossible to dislodge them until after we are given a suitable corps of detectives."

COOL CAMPBELL

How He Kicked Up a Murdering Mob in Ohio.

The presence in this city yesterday of Col. Thomas Campbell of Cincinnati, O., recalled to mind one of the darkest episodes in that city's history. "Tom" Campbell, as his friends call him, is one of the highest members of the Ohio bar, and a politician of considerable fame. In the winter of 1884 an old junkman by the name of Johnson was most foully murdered. His body, after being horribly mangled, was placed in a sack and thrown into the Ohio river. The crime was easily fastened on two lads, Palmer and Berner by name; the first colored. Berner was at the time a fair-faced German boy, only 18 years old. He and Palmer both confessed to have killed old man Johnson to obtain about $30 in money which he had on his person, and that while Berner held the old man Palmer brainied him with an ax. A written confession to this effect was obtained by the authorities from Berner. He was placed on trial and pleaded guilty to murder in the first degree.

He had no money and his friends were few, and it seemed that he would certainly hang for his crime, when Campbell came to the rescue. He gained permission from the Criminal court to have the case reconsidered. Berner was again brought into court, and this time, at the advice of Campbell, he pleaded not guilty. His case was tried, and notwithstanding the public clamor, was only convicted of manslaughter. He received the full penalty of the law, and was sentenced to twenty years' in the State penitentiary at hard labor. There were in the Hamilton County jail at that time over ten prisoners awaiting execution for murder, and upon Berner's escape from the gallows the people were so incensed that the same evening a riot commenced. The mob marched to the courthouse and used it to the ground. They were after the prisoners, but the Sheriff held his own until the militia had been called out, when the prisoners were removed and saved. Berner had in the meantime been placed upon a train bound for Columbus, to commence to serve his sentence, and thither part of the mob followed. Several of the National Guard were killed or wounded in suppressing the riot, and property running into the millions was destroyed. Palmer, the other murderer, was subsequently hung, and Berner has yet about ten years of his sentence to serve. Charges of impeachment were brought against Col. Campbell, but were not sustained. He claimed then, and does now, that a human life was in danger, and that was his duty as a lawyer to do what he could toward saving Berner from the gallows. He never received a cent for his work in the case, and gave his services only because he did not want to see Berner sacrificed to popular feeling.

The first performance of the show will be at eight o'clock to-morrow night. The show will be given daily, afternoon and evening. One admission to the menagerie and performance. This morning there will be a street pageant from the grounds, opposite the Southern Pacific freight depot on upper Main street, to Spring and Sixth, and back over the same route. The show will remain here two days, and will give but four performances.

We notice that the sales of the Raymond Improvement Company in their Division No. 1 have been so rapid that they have been obliged to subdivide more land to accommodate buyers. To this end they have placed on the market their Division No. 2, located in the southeastern portion of their tract and in front of the Raymond Hotel. They offer some 500 feet frontage on Garfield avenue at low prices. Everyone at all familiar with that section knows that this avenue, already the principal drive from Alhambra to Raymond station, over two miles long and seventy feet wide, will be completed in the near future by the street cars already running from Alhambra northward, and will thus be the most direct road to Raymond will arrive in a few days and at once be sold. POINTS OF THE MORNING'S NEWS.

Emma Abbott creates a sensation in a Nashville (Tenn.) church. The pulpit conferred on Archbishop Gibbons at Portland, Or. Terrible crime at Long Island City, N. Y. New York attacks breaking the records. Garrett's version of the late Baltimore and Ohio telegraph transfer. San Diego Postoffice troubles. A shooting affray at Biggs. News from Alaska. Powder's letter on the Catholic Church and Knights of Labor. Funeral of the late John B. Finch. Yellow fever in Florida. Yesterday's baseball games. The President passes Sunday at Madison, Wis. San Francisco bonds redeemed. Forest fires near Woodside. Sacramento. Powder's letter on the State Department preparing to negotiate on the fisheries question with Great Britain. Women preparing to vote in New York City. Healy makes a defiant speech at an Irish meeting. London. Radicals preparing to attack the condemned Anarchists. Heavy theft of jewelry in New York. Foreigners arrested in France. The Bulgarian elections. Death of a San Jose pioneer. Chicago Enactment notes. Explosion in an Illinois coal mine. Clearing-house returns. Train speaks for the condemned Anarchists. Many vessels in the harbor at San Francisco.

FRIENDS of the Chicago woman, who threw the pancake that alighted in President Cleveland's carriage, are about to organize a Georgeite club to be known as The Pancake Pelters.

CHRIS BUCKLEY and Tommy O'Connor, the leading and rival Democratic bosses of San Francisco, are both blind. What a spectacle! The Democratic party of San Francisco—and of the State for that matter—led, molded, battered and sold by a couple of blind men! Blind, leaders of the blind!

THE outcome of the derailment of twelve cars yesterday at Buena Vista, is regarded by the railroad people here as something wonderful. The derailment was caused by the spreading of the track, completely ditching the train, and yet not only were none of the trainmen hurt, but the ditched cars are uninjured.

ANOTHER successful cremation took place at the Rosedale Crematory yesterday. The body of a boy, 13 years of age, was incinerated at a cost of $50. The pageantry of a modern funeral would have cost at least three times that sum. Hence, in addition to whatever else that has been or that may be put forward in favor of cremation, economy may also be advanced.

RUMOR has it that the jury-fixer, Creighton, passed through San Diego en route for Mexico. The chances are that Creighton is still in San Francisco. Wherever he is the public may rest assured that his whereabouts is known to the bosses, and consequently known to the police authorities; for the fire and police departments are run by three Democratic bosses—Chris Buckley, Sam Rainey and Dick Carroll.

Our modest contemporary, the Express, claims that it is the only paper in the city that pays for and publishes correspondence and special articles. The wonder is that it does not claim to be the only paper in the United States that publishes telegrams. There is no limit to that sort of fussian when a newspaper starts out with it. THE TIMES has a corps of correspondents of which it is justly proud, and it pays them for their services.

As Rev. Mr. Houghton of the Methodist examining committee in the case of Rev. J. H. White seems to be still unhappy about the report of the ecclesiastical trial published in THE TIMES, we wish to submit this proposition to him: If he will furnish us with a full and accurate report of the proceedings, we will publish it. Whatever inaccuracies and false statements may have crept into the unauthorized report can thus be fully and satisfactorily corrected, and in no other way can this be done. Mere type diets of denial and wholesale repudiation will not do. Let's have all of the facts, Mr. Houghton, and the public will draw its own conclusions.

Rare Verses But Vicious Morals.

Our contemporary, the Tribune, published some lines yesterday morning which we feel sure are destined to make more than a passing twinkle in the literary firmament. At the same time they establish for the Tribune a reputation for correct literary taste which it would be only just to say, will make that journal shine on forever. But we find in the lines alluded to an insidious attack on a worthy class of people whom we cannot allow to go without a defender.

The lines in question, which are contributed by "V. R." [Yvonne Ream?] are in the nature of a tribute to Mrs. P., corner Fifth and Hill streets, and bear the touching title, "A-weary." Probably a more felicitous designation of this "pore" could not have been chosen, since it not only touches up the measure and sentiment of the rhyme, but it describes the condition of both the writer and publisher, and makes a delicate allusion to the feelings of the reader. "A-weary" begins to be tired in this fashion:

The world it is a-weary
With struggles and tears and pain,
The heartaches are so many—
Please will you hear my refrain?

Certainly, dear, who could refrain when appealed to by such a sweet warbler from away back?

I wanted to get some water,
But my eyes were a-weary,
I walked a long, long distance,
And many grand houses passed by.

At length I came to your cottage,
The little window all a-weary,
The front steps to thin air had vanished,
The underpinning, too, had flown.

The hold poetic license as to the front steps and the underpinning to Mrs. P.'s house, corner of Fifth and Hill streets, can only be tolerated in one of strong temperance and illusive architectural ideas. What might be the fate of that house, whose front steps had vaporized, so to speak, and whose underpinning, too, had flown, we leave to fervid imaginations to depict. But the metaphorical jack-screws which held the house up while "V. R." sang are supplied in the next stanza, and herein the covert attack begins:

It looked like a Second Adventist,
Just ready to go up to Heaven,
All covered the house in letters,
And waiting the trump to be given.

If it looked like a Second Adventist, of course the inference is plain that it was light in the upper story, and Mrs. P.'s house simply floated—floated in the thin ozone of the neighborhood of Fifth and Hill streets, while the ties to a bad world, and it may also be added, a bad world, were severed. There were, in fact, no ties. The house was having a high old time of it, and was simply waiting the trump to be given. If there is any moral inconsistency or any thinly disguised insult in the picture of a Second Adventist that had severed all connection with a bad world, just ready to go up higher, and simultaneously waiting for a trump to be turned, it must be reconciled and explained away by the poetess and her publisher. The reckless versificator could have gone only one step further in her immodest, and insinuated that the house without a foundation wished the trump to be spades.

But the deep and damnable insult which is cast in the teeth of every Second Adventist in the country by this covert allusion, we haven't the heart to discuss. We trust, however, that every Second Adventist will do his duty. A paper which loses no opportunity to drag the slums of Fifth and Hill streets to cast the disgusting off of its own purring imagination at the Second Adventists' faith, deserves just reprobation. No self-respecting Second Adventist would subscribe for it or advertise in it. (THE TIMES is served to subscribers at 20 cents a week, and is a first-class family paper; classified advertisements, 5 cents a line. New press!)

We may state on information that has come to us from another source, that on the night the Tribune's indecent poem was handed in it was also tendered to THE TIMES and was indignantly refused—unless paid for as advertising matter at regular rates. We feel confident that we can trust the Second Adventists to hear this in mind. It was our deep and abiding affection for the Second Adventists, and the failure of the short-haired poetess to put up $25, that restrained us from perpetrating this gross outrage on a patient and long-suffering public. We hope the aforesaid, and I, s. public will also bear this in mind, and make up, by increased patronage, the money which we owe for our new press and the $25 which we failed to get from the impecunious poetess. Selah! As a great moral rectifier of the crude spirit of poetry (and crooked whisky) a director of our vicious and misguided contemporary toward the path of rectitude, and a bidder for the next prize cake (for which we are prepared to purchase the requisite votes) we stand before the public! Behold us! Subscribe for us! Put us on the back! We are a great moral crusader!

Political Corruption Made Profitable.

Democratic San Francisco is a political Sodom. It is the sink of corruption and the home of the boss. With the exception of the efforts of Col. Bill Higgins, whom the Republicans have invariably thwarted, the boss business has always been in the hands of Democrats; and in the history of the Democratic bosses one may find a fair reflex of the party they ruled. We will go no further back than the reign of the Brady-Mannix-and-Tommy O'Connor triumvirate. Owen Brady was a hackman, a man of the lowest type, intellectually considered, but possessed of unmeasured cunning—base, brazen, dangerous cunning. Brady formed a political partnership with "Jack" Mannix, a Virginia City desperado. And, by the way, it was this same Jack Mannix who shot the arm off of Senator Pat Brady in a murderous melee which occurred in Virginia. As San Francisco Democratic bosses, Brady and Mannix were very successful. Besides running the grand old party, they ran a howling wilderness of a gin-mill, in the back rooms of which United States

Murderous Affray Growing Out of a Dispute About Land.

Sacramento Newspaper Men Arrested for Libel—San Diego's Overhauled Postoffice—Albino on the Yukon Short of Supplies—San Francisco Matters.

By Telegram to The Times.

PORTLAND (Or.), Oct. 9.—[By the Associated Press.] The sacred pallium was conferred today on Most Rev. Archbishop Grosz, at St. Mary's Cathedral, by James, Cardinal Gibbons, with the pomp and ceremony of the ceremony of the pallium. The large cathedral was crowded to its utmost capacity. Among the audience were the Governor of the State, Judges of the Supreme Court, Judge of the United States Court, United States Senators and many very prominent citizens of Portland. The interior of the church was very appropriately decorated in honor of the event. The altar was a mass of flowers. The decorations were arranged with exquisite beauty and taste. Bishop Agadins Junger, of the Vancouver diocese, celebrated a pontifical mass, Coram Cardinale, assisted by several other prominent prelates. There were present during the ceremony thirty-two priests, including the Redeemptorist fathers, Jesuit fathers and Benedictine fathers. At the conclusion of the gospel Cardinal Gibbons delivered a short discourse. The keynote of the sermon was Cardinal's saying to St. Peter, "Thou art Peter, and on this rock I will build my Church, and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it." The Cardinal laid down the proposition that Christ did not mean churches, but one Church, the Church of Christ. The proof of this was furnished by history; for the Church which now numbers 235 million souls, occupying a territory known to the terrestrial globe and everywhere worshipping alike, and just as the Church had been built, even before St. Peter's day, was one in thought, one in action and one in sentiment. The discourse was listened to with great interest by the Archbishop Rindard, Bishop Brondel and Bishop Gileux assisted the Cardinal in the conferring of the pallium, which included the sermon. The music was one of the principal features of the ceremony. The mass sung was an original hymn written by the Cardinal for the occasion. The music of the offertory was the "Tantum Ergo," beautifully rendered by a young lady vocalist of this city. The choir sang a very solemn and impressive.

Archbishop Rindard and secretary left overtaken by great interest in the ceremony. The former did not preach at vesper, as was expected. Bishop Brondel delivered the evening discourse.

'FRISCO NOTES.

Many Ships in the Harbor—City Bonds Redeemed.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 9.—[By the Associated Press.] Just at present there are more deep-water vessels anchored in the stream and lying at the wharves discharging than there have been for many months past. Many are foreigners, and some are carrying cargoes. The German bark Thalia arrived today, 113 days from Hamburg. She experienced remarkably fine weather off Cape Horn. She has a general cargo. The tug boat Dolphin that caught fire and was sunk at the pier-stroke yesterday, the fire destroyed all of the woodwork in the engine room, and the repairs will cost several thousand dollars.

The steamer Colima, that has been two months on the Union Iron Works dry dock, sailed for Mail dock today. She has been thoroughly overhauled, varnished and repainted, and will be put back to duty soon.

REDEMPTION BONDS.

Two hundred and twenty-four city and county 7 per cent. bonds were redeemed by the treasury on the 30th of September and were canceled yesterday by the Auditor. The bonds were for the redemption of the city and county bonds. The bonds redeemed and canceled were issued October 1, 1887, and ran for twenty years. The bonds were for the redemption of the city and county bonds. The bonds redeemed and canceled were issued October 1, 1887, and ran for twenty years.

AMUSEMENTS.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—A Rag Baby will make its initial appearance here this evening. It will hold the boards for a week. Wherever it has appeared the second time, large houses have always been the rule. After the engagement here the Rag Baby Company goes direct to the Bush-street Theater, San Francisco, to fill a two-weeks' engagement.

Abolishing the Whisky and Tobacco Taxes.

[Philadelphia Record, (Dem.)] Repeal of the internal taxes on whisky, beer and tobacco would deprive the Public Treasury of nearly $20,000,000 of revenue for the payment of the war debt and the increasing disbursements of the pension list. Repeal of the duties on raw materials of industry and actual necessities of living, with a substantial reduction of excessive rates of duty on other imports in the tariff schedule, would relieve the Treasury of its embarrassing surplus and at the same time remove from the shoulders of the people a far greater burden of taxation.

Of the large revenues from drink and smoke every dollar is added to the public debt, and the small rest is lost in collection. For the collection of the duties on raw materials and articles of necessity at least $5 is taken out of the pockets of the people for every dollar that finds its way into the Treasury.

To abolish the voluntary taxes on drink and smoke, in the face of an enormous war debt, for the sake of maintaining the compulsory taxes upon the raw materials of labor and the necessities of American households would be a descent to the lowest depths of financial folly and political profligacy. The issue which has been forced itself upon the country, the politicians can no longer climb over it or crawl under it. They must meet the issue now.

FROM THE FAR NORTH.

Whaling Catch—Provisions Scarce on the Yukon—Mining Notes.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 9.—[By the Associated Press.] The revenue cutter Richard Rust, which has arrived from North Alaska waters, brings late Alaska news. Speaking of whaling, the Alaskan states that the season has been remarkably favorable this year. In whaling two vessels are frequently arranged to work together and "salve" the catch, so that the catch for the fleet was quite even. What has been said in remarkably large numbers during the past summer in Bering sea.

Reports from the Yukon are to the effect that the largest amount of gold has been found in a very scarce, flour bringing $18 per hundred pounds. At Forty-nine Creek 1000 pounds of gold were taken out of the river bottom. A large number of prospectors are at work taking out the precious metal. The largest amount taken out by one man this season was $3000. Operations will close soon.

A FARMER'S AFFRAY.

A Dispute Over Land Results in Biggs, Oct. 9.—[By the Associated Press.] This morning Dr. W. Little shot and probably seriously wounded James Baynon. Little was sowing wheat on a strip of land on the line between his (Little's) and Baynon's farms, about which there seems to be a dispute as to ownership. Baynon rode down on him, flourishing a large wooden tooth, taken from a Tiger rake, and, jumping from his horse, commenced beating Little over the head, when Little pulled a pistol and fired three shots. As Baynon turned and started for home Little swore he would get a shovelful of dirt. Little shot and killed him. The police are now looking for Baynon's place immediately after the shooting. The parties live about eight miles west of the police station. Little will give him up to the officers.

A Pioneer's Untimely Death.
SAN JOSE, Oct. 9.—Charles Le Franc, a well-known wine dealer and grower, died this afternoon from congestion of the brain, caused by injuries received from a runaway team. Last evening on Mr. Le Franc came out of his cell on his vineyard, he saw one of his teams running away, and attempted to stop it. The horses ran over and trampled upon him, badly bruising his head and body, and producing congestion of the brain. He was 63 years of age, a native of France and a pioneer vintner of this country. He came here in 1859. He leaves a widow and three children, all grown.

Arrested for Libel.

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 9.—Charles K. McClatchy, managing editor, and V. S. McClatchy, business manager of the Evening Bee, were arrested this evening on a charge of criminal libel on complaint of Miss Abbott, called on her by the Bee, with being a boarding-house bet. The McClatchys gave bail in the sum of $500 each.

AROUND THE BASES.

The Altas Able to Play Under the New Rules—The Pioneers Defeat the Haverlys—Eastern Games.

By Telegram to The Times.
SACRAMENTO, Oct. 9.—[By the Associated Press.] The Altas had no difficulty in defeating the Greenwood & Morans. They outplayed the Oakland pets at every point. It was the first game here under the new rules, and the attendance was large. Milnes and McLaughlin, Borchers and McDonald, were the rival batteries. Neither side scored in the first inning, but in the second the Altas began the run-getting, scoring two runs. They made two in the third, three in the fourth and four in the fifth. They made more runs until the ninth inning, when they were out. The Greenwood & Morans did not score until the fourth inning, when they made three runs, adding one in the sixth and one in the eighth.

The Altas were a runner here to witness the game for first place between the Pioneers and Haverlys. For the Haverlys there was much curiosity to see how effective Megan, a pitcher, was under the new rules. His work proved to be only average. His support was poor. Sweeney made a most helpful miff of an easy fly ball right into the hands of the catcher. The pitcher, Stein started in to do the catching, but was injured in a collision with Perrier, and was compelled to leave the game. The playing of the Pioneers was far superior to that of their opponents. They batted harder and with more telling effect, and outfielded them at every point. The Altas did the pitching, and was batted with more freedom than his admirers expected. It was his second effort under the new rules, and he was not near as effective as on Sunday before. Carroll was the receiving end and caught a splendid game. Nick Smith seemed perfectly at home on third, and made many new friends by his clever work. Gagus at second and Huey Smith at short both did splendidly. On account of the first, the Pioneers had the exception of Taylor, who let a ground ball pass him. Score: Pioneers, 11; Haverlys, 6.

Swallowing a Chicken's Heart.

[Chicago Tribune.] A romantic young waiter girl at a hotel in Ontario, Can., came near losing her life the other day by trying a foolish experiment. She had heard an old saying that any girl who swallowed a chicken's heart would have for a husband the first male person she shook hands with, and believing the proverb, she attempted to swallow a chicken's raw heart, but failed. The heart stuck in her throat and would not move either way, down or up. A doctor was called in and arrived only in season to save the delicate girl from an untimely death by choking.

Diabolical Crimes of a Wretch at Long Island City.

Garrett's Version of His Recent Statements About the Baltimore and Ohio—The Yellow Fever Scare—Preparations for the Fishery Negotiations.

By Telegram to The Times.

NASHVILLE (Tenn.), Oct. 9.—[By the Associated Press.] The leading Methodist Episcopal Church of this city was the scene of quite a sensation today. The pastor, Rev. W. A. Candler, delivered a very severe and bitter sermon on the subject of the theater. Miss Emma Abbott, who occupied a seat in the rear of the church, rose and entered a protest in a short speech against the general character of the preacher's denunciation. Her appearance showed much suppressed indignation, but her words were very clear and distinct.

Miss Abbott declared that the minister's charges were unfounded and that her life was as free from blame as that of any living woman. In all orders of the past week, to which the minister referred, there was no impure or improper thought. The great lights of the stage, such as Jenny Lind, Modjeska, Albani and countless others had been good women, model wives and mothers. She defied any one to say that she had ever been said against the fair fame of Emma Abbott. There was considerable applause at the conclusion of her remarks. Before it subsided, Candler said that he could not answer the lady because she was a lady.

During the day, as the affair became known, a great many ladies who had met Miss Abbott socially called on her and commended her spirited defense of herself and her profession.

The matter has created a great sensation, and forms the sole topic of conversation this evening. Many of the parishioners and others commended the cause of Miss Abbott.

SHOT HUSBAND AND WIFE.

A Long Island Man's Vengeance on His Wife.

LONG ISLAND CITY (N. Y.), Oct. 9.—[By the Associated Press.] Mrs. Charles Schaufert of Breslau, while walking on a path across the garden of George Gabelin of the same place yesterday, was shot and instantly killed by her husband. He was lying in wait for the purpose. He immediately buried the woman's body, having had a grave in readiness. The husband of Mrs. Schaufert came the same way later on, and was also shot by Gabelin, who received only a slight wound in the hand. Gabelin was arrested. The trouble has been of long standing, and was caused by the Schauferts using a path through Gabelin's property. The murderer was locked up. He subsequently made a confession, saying that he had killed Gabelin because he was a Jew and had intended to kill his husband. The murderer while under arrest swallowed a dose of poison, but not sufficient to cause death, as he has recovered from its effects.

Bayard and His Aids Preparing for the Negotiations.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—[By the Associated Press.] Messrs. The discussion touched generally on all points of the dispute, and suggestions were made as to matters which it would be well to look up closely in order that this Government might be prepared to meet any arguments raised by the negotiators on the part of Great Britain. Putnam and Angell will remain here for a day or so in conference with the Secretary and in examination of the voluminous official literature relating to the treaty which is necessary to study.

USEFUL CRANBERRY.

WHERE IT IS GROWN AND HOW IT IS CULTIVATED.

Chicago is the Largest Cranberry Market in the Country—The Wisconsin Crop Only Medium This Year—Description of a Cranberry Bog.

(Chicago Tribune.)

It is a well-known fact that cranberries, aside from their popularity as an accompaniment to a tender turkey, are very popular for their medicinal qualities. By the American aborigines poultices were prepared from them to extract the venom from snake bites made by poisonous arrows, and the berries are used as a popular remedy for erysipelas. South Water street dealers, who have obtained a reputation throughout the country for handling these berries in large quantities, say that they have a number of bogs throughout the summer months, when cranberries are almost impossible to get, from parties who are troubled with erysipelas.

A prominent dealer on the street, being questioned by a representative of the Tribune as to the outlook for a fair crop this year, said: "I have been in correspondence with a large number of growers during the last few weeks, and I estimate the Wisconsin crop at fully 100,000 bushels. Last year the crop was 125,000 bushels. The Wisconsin crop is the largest in the United States and the berries are of the highest quality. The berries are grown in the marshes outside of Berlin, while the Bell and Bugle come from North and vicinity, and are considered the best that are put upon the market. It is a good sight to go upon the marshes in the state of the packing season, for there you will see farmers with their entire families coming in from all the surrounding country, camping out just as an army would in barracks, bringing their own provisions and bedding and virtually keeping house upon the marshes. On one of the Bell and Bugle bogs, known as the Sackett, they have steam pumps which throw 100,000 gallons of water per minute for the purpose of flooding the marshes to protect the berries from frost. This marsh covers 1,000 acres, but it can be completely flooded in less than six hours. Around Berlin, where the natural cranberry marshes, they are worth about $1000 per acre. The land is like a bog, and when one jumps heavily the bog springs for one's weight, and one can make perceptibly."

From the proceedings of the eighteenth annual convention of the American Cranberry Growers' Association, held in Philadelphia a couple of weeks ago, the crops of the year seem to be finally determined by their movement are as follows:

1898. 1899. 1900. 1901. 1902. 1903. 1904. 1905. 1906. 1907.

Wisconsin.....115,224 125,635 106,125 224,254 224,254 224,254 224,254 224,254 224,254 224,254

Michigan.....150,507 24,793 24,793 11,262 11,262 11,262 11,262 11,262 11,262 11,262

Totals.....265,731 250,428 127,438 235,506 235,506 235,506 235,506 235,506 235,506 235,506

The crop for 1906 compared with that estimated for 1907 is as follows:

1906. 1907. 1908. 1909. 1910. 1911. 1912. 1913. 1914. 1915.

Wisconsin.....224,254 224,254 224,254 224,254 224,254 224,254 224,254 224,254 224,254 224,254

Michigan.....11,262 11,262 11,262 11,262 11,262 11,262 11,262 11,262 11,262 11,262

Totals.....235,506 235,506 235,506 235,506 235,506 235,506 235,506 235,506 235,506 235,506

By reference to the above it will be seen that the crop of 1907 is estimated to be some 100,000 bushels below that of the year last year, but a number of Chicago dealers claim that the Wisconsin crop will only be 100,000 bushels, which is nearly as much as the great crop of 1905. It is not to be forgotten, however, that the crop of 1905 was a very active one, and the reduction, are yet to have their turn at the crop now on the vines.

Cranberry growers claim that they have seen very unfortunate in having the crop overestimated, as it has in years gone by and a tendency to produce low prices.

This frost is probably the greatest enemy of the cranberry, and the growers have lost a time in getting it in work. It is wonderful how tenaciously these worms will hold on to the berry when once they have a lodgment there. It is said that they have never been so numerous nor destructive in the Eastern States as they are now.

The Entomological Department at Washington has recommended kerosene as a remedy, but has failed to inform growers how to apply it so as to bring it in contact with the worm. The president of the association says that he knows of no better way of getting rid of these worms than by an application of kerosene to the berries.

The cranberry, which seems to be growing more popular every season, is found growing wild in many parts of North and South America, in England and Ireland, the marshy grounds of Central Northern Europe, and on the wastes of Siberia. The American cranberry is larger than the English, and of richer flavor. It grows best in boggy and marshy ground, where the soil is organic matter, and where the water is stagnant. It is a very hardy plant, and it is said that it can survive a winter of twelve or thirteen inches below zero.

There must be a supply of water sufficient to allow the bogs to be flooded as will, and an abundance of pure sand. The sand figures conspicuously in the preparation. When the surface of the bog is covered, the water is turned on, and it is covered with sand from two to six inches deep, according as the muck is very or less abundant. The sand should be free of clay or vegetable matter and from the seeds of weeds, as it serves a two-fold purpose: it affords a genial medium in which the newly-set plants can strike root and it keeps down the growth of weeds which would otherwise spring from the muck. The sanding completed, the bog is then planted. These should be done with great care, some of them being planted with the best material, some with the worst. The vines should be planted in rows two feet apart.

The vines should be kept down for the first year, after which the vines will grow up and a good practice. A better method is to use cuttings from four to six inches long, which is covered with soil and the ends left projecting; or, better still, the vines should be planted in rows two feet apart.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA.

SUMMARY OF NEWS GATHERED FROM EXCHANGES.

California Central Railroad Headquarters at San Bernardino--Ontario's Narrow Gauge--Liquor License in Santa Barbara.

San Diego.

[Union.] A letter received by James McConaughy of this city from T. J. Sherwood, Secretary and Treasurer of the State Board of Fish Commissioners at Marysville, states that the article in the Union relative to the depredations committed by Chinese fishermen in the Bay of San Diego have reached him, and that the Board will appoint a deputy in this city as soon as a proper person can be found.

At a meeting of the Directors of the California Southern Railroad Company, held in National City on Tuesday afternoon, Vice-President Smith in the chair, the resignation of Judge M. A. Luce as a director was presented and accepted, and George A. Cowles of El Cajon, was elected in his place.

The new warehouse for the Spreckels Bros. Commission Company will be commenced in a few days, the contract having been signed yesterday for its erection. It will be 200x300 feet and built of brick. The contract calls for its erection in seventy-five days from the date of commencement.

The Board of Supervisors has concluded the matter of levying the county taxes for the fiscal year of 1887-88, by fixing the rate at 99 cents and 2 mills on each $100 valuation. The levy is apportioned to the various funds as follows: Hospital and poor fund, 5 cents; contingent, 36 cents; salary, 3 cents; road, 20 cents; school, 27 cents; interest and sinking fund, 8 cents 2 mills. The assessed valuation of the county is about $22,452,603.83, and at the rate levied yesterday the sum of $226,793.52 will be raised to defray the expenses of the county for the ensuing year. This tax levy includes only the county taxes, and, deducting the 20 cents levied for road purposes, leaves the city tax for county purposes to be 78 cents and 2 mills. Although the levy of the city tax proper has not been completed, it is thought that it will be about 60 cents and 8 mills, which, with the county tax and the State tax of 60 cents, will make a total tax for city, county and municipal purposes of $2 on the $100. Add the county road tax of 20 cents included in the 99 cents and 2 mills levy, and a total tax of $2.20 will be levied on the county outside of the city.

Pasadena.

[Star.] The Pasadena Transfer Company have been gratuitously hauling the mail bags on their arrival from the depot to the postoffice. Last evening they refused to deliver the evening mail, owing to the lateness of the hour at which it arrived. The Government's contract with the railroad company, provides that the railroad shall deliver all mail-pouches to postoffices on the line of their roads that are within a quarter of a mile of the depot. As the present postoffice is 1572 feet from the postoffice, the obligation of the railroad ceases on its delivery at the depot.

Negotiations are pending between the Transfer Company and the Government for delivery, but up to the present they have not been able to agree on terms. Our Postmaster has been laboring under many difficulties, of which the above is not the least, and it is to be hoped that the Government Inspector on his arrival will make such a report as to remedy present evils.

The Methodist society has grown so fast and its work has developed so rapidly that it has been found necessary to employ an assistant pastor. Rev. Miller, recently from Iowa, has been secured by the church, and has already entered upon his duties.

[Union.] Quarrymen are getting out a lot of fine building stone--granite--in the Arroyo Seco. It is of the very finest quality, being fine-grained and firm. It has every quality which insures its lasting for ages.

The Congregational Church is nearing completion. The interior finish is very handsome. The chandeliers are in place and the stained-glass windows will soon be put in. On the outside the painters are finishing the building in handsome style.

Superintendent Pierce says he is compelled to turn new pupils away from the school daily, on account of being unable to accommodate them. He has telegraphed and written for several new teachers, who are expected to arrive at any time.

The First National Bank has put some extra desks into its offices. The increase in business demands that it have more room, and it is designed ere long to enlarge the banking area by cutting through into the large room now occupied by real-estate offices.

San Bernardino.

[Times.] About a month ago there was a dance at Olds' ranch, in Lytle Creek cañon. There was considerable liquor on the grounds, and a general row occurred, in which Cy Glenn was badly punished by the Olds boys, and one of the Olds boys received a slight flesh wound at the hands of John Glenn. Yesterday and today the case was on trial before Justice Morgan, and this morning Glenn was discharged. It appeared to Justice Morgan that the two men had been friends up to within a few moments before the row; that there was no malice aforethought and no intent to do great bodily injury. Deputy District Attorney Nesbit, in his pleadings to hold Glenn, said that according to law the defendant must be bound over to appear before the Supreme Court. His Honor in his decision said that where law conflicted with justice he always gave the benefit of the doubt in favor of justice; that he did not believe that Glenn had committed a penitentiary offense; that he did not think a jury would find him guilty of the charge preferred, and that a trial in the Supreme Court would only result in the useless expenditure of the county's money. The opinion of Justice Morgan is generally concurred in by our people.

For the past few days the books and papers of the California Central Railroad office, formerly located at National City, San Diego county, have been arriving here. This morning the archives were followed by the following officials: Giles Kellogg, auditor; M. P. Hayes, chief book-keeper and assistant; Judge Merrill, traffic clerk; F. Parke, freight-line desk; J. Southern, ticket desk and assistants; H. Reinberg, car accountant and assistant; Mr. McArthur and assistant, claim desk; and our old friend G. A. Riviere, statistic desk, and assistants. In all thirty strong, young and worthy marriageable gentlemen of fine appearance and good address. They have all been settled in their respective offices at the California Central depot, taken rooms or made homes here, and in the future will be a part and parcel of beautiful San Bernardino. We welcome them among us. The National City shops will soon follow and be located here.

[Index.]

Several months ago the California Central Railroad Company issued a circular to all its employees, stating that a certain sum would be deducted from their wages every month to be applied to a hospital fund. All the employees in every department were notified of this arrangement and the majority of the men were satisfied, although a number of the employees who were never exposed to any danger objected a little. But now the men located here are very much dissatisfied and are becoming very indignant at the turn affairs have taken. Until the company could build a hospital of their own and equip it they made arrangements with the County Hospital here to take in all of the railroad patients and care for them, the company furnishing its own physician and paying the hospital just what the board and care of the patients amounted to, which averages about 30 cents per day per patient. The railroad men dislike the idea of going to a county hospital when they pay well for their care and attention with the deduction which the company makes of their wages. Several cases which have occurred lately have tended to disgust the men, and they now hire their own physician and take care of themselves when sick or hurt.

A Mrs. Thirkfield has joined the Salvation Army, and is wearing a "war-cry" sash, suspended by a "God is Love" strap. The woman has deserted her husband, who is ill with typhoid fever, and three little children, the eldest of whom is also ill. The oldest child is just 6 years of age. In the same house lies Mrs. Thirkfield's sister at the point of death.

[Courier.]

Yesterday afternoon a passenger got off the train at the depot and very carelessly left his valise on the platform, while he went inside. When he returned a few minutes later the valise had disappeared and the traveler could obtain no trace of it. The man or men who "found" it made a lucky haul, for it contained eighty watches, most of them silver, and a few of gold, six diamond pins valued at $800, a dozen gold thumbles, and several other articles of jewelry of more or less value. Marshal Thomas and his force are on the track of the thieves, and it is to be hoped they will succeed in capturing them.

Riverside.

[Valley Echo.] At the school meeting last week, Matthew Gage offered the district twenty acres in Arlington Heights, "in the geographical center of the district." Although he probably did not expect his offer to be accepted, yet it was no mere "chin music." He's got the land and the water, and will do what he agrees.

The young man who fell from the roof of the Riverside Episcopal Church a few days ago, and was thought to be so severely hurt about the back and lower extremities, as to warrant his removal to the County Hospital, has almost entirely recovered, his injuries being of a much simpler nature than at first supposed.

A party of seven, consisting of James W. Palmer, father of L. Palmer of the Union Ice Company, Emory Finkle, George Marshall, Peter Logan, Wilbur V. Ullman, and Louis Sales and son, all from Ontario, Canada, arrived in Riverside last Monday. They have come to spy out the land, and if it suits them, of which there can be no doubt, they will make their homes here. Mr. Palmer has not seen one of his sons for over six years, and the meeting was a welcome one to both of them.

[Press.]

A shooting affair that might have been serious took place at Runels' camp, at the end of the Seventh-street railroad near Grand View, this morning early. Valencia Salazar and a man who refused to give his name got into a quarrel over a shovel, when the unknown drew a pistol and fired at Salazar. The shot missed, as Cole, another workman, struck at his arm and turned the course of the bullet. Constable Dickinson was soon on the ground and arrested him, brought him to town and locked him up on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon. The men were both laborers on the railroad.

Anaheim.

[Orangetown.] The belt of country of which Centralia and Westminster is the center, long ago acquired the reputation of producing the best apples in California. That there is great activity at the Dreyfus big winery can be clearly shown. Last Thursday morning thirty or more teams loaded with grapes were standing in waiting one behind the other along the road leading to the winery. It was such a sight as was never before witnessed here, and the wagon-train was nearly a hundred yards in length. Many were compelled to unhitch their teams and go home, returning the next day to unload. Work at the winery is in progress until 10 o'clock some nights.

At the famous Rancho Los Alisos, owned by Dwight Whiting, and upon which is located the future metropolis of Modjeska, a number of men are blasting a lime deposit which experts have pronounced to be of a very superior quality. There is a mountain of it, and Mr. Whiting will give it a thorough test. If it turns out as the experts predict, it will not only be a most fortunate thing for the proprietor, but for the whole country as well, as it will cheapen building material, for which there is a great demand.

Some complaint is made about the number of canines infesting the principal streets in town. If a circus were to come along it is guaranteed that the managers of the dog show could be supplied with every known species, from the brave Newfoundland down to terriers and Mexican hairless curs. The majority of those running about are ill-conducted, vicious, cross, stub-tailed, hair-lipped, crop-eared brutes. It is impossible to name all the colors, give a description of bristles, etc. The only difficulty that show managers would find in securing them is in lassoing the curs, as the untiring efforts of the Town Marshals of years gone by have demonstrated, only a small percentage of the number having been captured.

Pomona.

[Progress.]

A meeting of the directors of the Pomona and Elsinore Railroad Company was held at their headquarters in the Palmer block on Monday. It was decided to refer all bids for the construction of the road between Pomona and South Riverside to Surveyor Treadwell.

The foundation for the Congregational Church is completed, and the material is on the ground for its construction. Mr. James Garlick informs us that $3600 in cash was raised in one day among the members of the society. The location, on the corner of Thomas and Third streets, is a good one, although business is growing in that direction.

Pomona is a pretty busy place, but has time to attend to the big business. They can't slip "white scale" into this valley, even if we are having a boom. [Times.]

On the evening of the 5th, a meeting was held in James T. Taylor's office for the formation of a social club. After the election of a temporary chairman, the following officers were elected: James T. Taylor, president; T. P. Rockwell, vice-president; Robert Ammons, secretary and treasurer. The name of the club will be the Pomona Social Club. A committee of three was appointed to draw up a constitution and by-laws, and to report at the next meeting, to be held in the same place Wednesday, October 12th.

Ontario.

The corner-stone of the Euclid-avenue Presbyterian Church at North Ontario, northeast corner Ninth street and Euclid avenue, was formally laid last Thursday afternoon before a large audience.

Mr. Gird of the Chino ranch met the directors of the Ontario Land Company at their office here on Thursday morning, and arrangements were completed for the building of the narrow-gauge road from the rancho to the Southern Pacific, at this point. This sets at rest all fears and speculations, and we congratulate all parties interested in the happy outcome of the negotiations that at one time threatened to "hitch." The arrangement is that the land company gives Mr. Gird right of way up the avenue, and pays for the construction of the road in Ontario, a little less than a mile—a gratifying display of public spirit and enterprise. The track will be laid parallel to that of the electric road, inside the row of trees in the center of the avenue.

Santa Barbara.

The Board of Supervisors have fixed the saloon licenses at amounts ranging from $80 to $100 per quarter, and the license on billiard tables at $5 per quarter.

Judge Heacock, as chairman of the citizens' meeting on the water question held on Tuesday night, has appointed the following committee to cooperate with the Council in any efforts to secure a more plentiful supply of water, as instructed by that meeting: First ward, J. M. Short; second ward, Edward Ivison; third ward, S. W. Backus; fourth ward, Henry Tallant; fifth ward, Joseph J. Perkins.

Lamanda Park.

The railway from the Raymond to Lamanda Park, being about to be opened shortly and giving to this desirable and picturesque property exceptional facilities, a further addition has been made to the town lots, which are offered to the public on reasonable terms, also plots to suit the convenience of buyers for villa residences of from one to five or more acres, on the Rose avenue and other desirable situations.

Water provided for domestic purposes on reasonable terms. Plans can be seen and particulars obtained from the owners.

L. J. Rose & Co., Limited, Sunny Slope, San Gabriel; or A. M. Stevens, Lawyers' Block, Los Angeles; or I. W. Eyestone, Real-estate Agent, Lamanda Park.

A Card.

The managers of the Orphans' Home, corner Yale and Virgin streets, are placed under many obligations to the directors of the Sixth District Agricultural Association for their generous action in gratuitously awarding the refreshment privilege for the benefit of the orphans during the approaching annual exposition. The fair opens October 10th, and continues six days, at Hazard's Temple of Music, corner of Fifth and Olive streets. We ask our citizens to respond to the action of the board of directors by patronizing the fair, where we will be pleased to see you, and where you will have an opportunity to add your mite for the relief and support of the dependent orphans under our charge. By order of the board of managers.

We are making a specialty of five-acre homes, and will now offer you as good land as can be found in the entire county, lying seven and a half miles from the postoffice, adjoining the Modjeska and Denker & Hemmel ranches. We guarantee to build a school-house on a church on the property. Come in and get particulars.

"Hello! old fellow. What have you been doing to yourself? You look like a subject for the undertaker," exclaimed the man on the right.

"I have been taking mercury and potash mixtures until they have nearly ruined me," squeaked the old man on crutches.

"And I," said the other, "have been taking the genuine Swift's Specific, which has built me up from the first dose."

SWIFT'S SPECIFIC.

Nature's own remedy, made from roots gathered from the forests of Georgia. The method by which it is made was obtained by a half-breed from the Creek Indians, who inhabited a certain portion of Georgia, which was communicated to one of the early settlers, and thus the formula has been handed down to the present day. The demand has been increasing until a $100,000 laboratory is now necessary to supply the trade. A foreign demand has been created, and enlarged facilities will be necessary to meet it. This great

Only spot in California where frost, fog and wind-storms are absolutely unknown. The earliest season in the State. Best opportunity for men of moderate means. In a sheltered spot at the base of the San Jacinto Mountains lies Palm Valley, famous all over the southern part of the State as being the location of the Agua Caliente Springs, whose waters are an absolute specific for rheumatism and a host of other diseases. The soil of the valley is remarkably fertile, and it has been demonstrated that every fruit and vegetable will mature in this favored spot a month or more in advance of any other place. There is a STRANGE ANTIPATHIES.

Animals and Flowers and Sounds That Are Abhorrent to Some People. (Caswell's for October.)

It seems absolutely incredible that Peter the Great, the father of the Russian Navy, should shudder at the sight of water, whether running or still, yet so it was, especially when alone. His palace gardens, beautiful as they were, he never entered, because the river Mosera flowed through them. His coachman had orders to avoid all roads which led past streams, and if compelled to cross a brook or bridge, the great Emperor would sit with closed windows in a cold perspiration. Another monarch, James I. the English Solomon, as he liked to be called, had many antipathies, chiefly tobacco, ling and pork. He never overcame his inability to look with composure at a drawn sword; and it is said that on one occasion, when giving the accolade, the King turned his face aside, nearly wounding the new-made knight. Henry III of France had so great a dislike to cats that he fainted at the sight of one. We suppose that in this case the cat had to waive its proverbial prerogative and could not look at a King. This will seem as absurd as extraordinary to lady-lovers of that much petted animal, but what are we to say of the Countess of Lamballe, of unhappy history, to whom a violet was a thing of horror? Even this is not without its precedent, for it is on record that Vincent, the painter, was seized with vertigo and swooned at the smell of roses. Scalliger states that one of his relatives was made ill at the sight of a lily; and he, himself, would turn pale at the sight of water-cresses, and could never drink milk.

Charles Kingsley, naturalist though he was to the core, had a great horror of spiders; and in "Glaucus," after saying that every one seems to have his antipathetic animal, continues: "I know one (himself) bred from his childhood to zoology by land and sea, and bold in asserting and honest in feeling that all without exception is beautiful, who yet cannot, after handling and petting and examining, all day long, every uncouth and venomous beast, avoid a paroxysm of horror at the sight of a common house-spider."

The writer shares in this dislike to a painful extent; in this case it is inherited from his grandfather. The genial author of the "Turkish Spy" says that he would far prefer sword in hand to face a lion in his desert lair than have a spider crawl over him in the dark. The cat, as we have previously mentioned, has repeatedly been an object of aversion. The Duke of Schomberg, though a redoubtable soldier, would not sit in the same room with a cat. A courtier of the Emperor Ferdinand carried his dislike so far as to bleed at the nose on hearing a cat mew. A well-known officer of Her Majesty's army, who has proved his strength and courage in more than one campaign, turns pale at the sight of a cat. On one occasion, when asked out to dinner, his host, who was rather skeptical as to the reality of this feeling, concealed a cat in an ottoman in the dining-room. Dinner was announced and commenced, but his guest was evidently ill at ease, and at length declared his inability to go on eating, as he was sure there was a cat in the room. An apparently thorough, but unavailing search was made, but his visitor was so completely upset that the host, with many apologies for his experiment, "let the cat out of the bag," and out of the ottoman at the same time. Lord Lauderdale, on the other hand, declared that the mew of a cat was to him sweeter than any music, while he had the greatest dislike to the lute and the bagpipe. In this latter aversion he was by no means singular. Dogs, too, have come in for their share of dislike. De Musset cordially detested them. When a candidate for the Academy he called upon a prominent member. At the gate of the chateau a dirty, ugly dog received him most affectionately and insisted on preceding him into the drawing-room. De Musset cursing his friend's predilection for the brute. The academician entered and they adjourned to the dining-room, the dog at their heels. Seizing his opportunity the dog placed his muddy paws upon the spotless cloth and carried off a bonne-bouche. "The wretch wants shooting!" was De Musset's muttered thought, but he politely said:

"You are fond of dogs, I see."

"Fond of dogs," responded the academician—"I hate them!"

"But this animal here," queried De Musset; "I have only tolerated it because I thought it was yours, sir."

"Mine!" exclaimed the poet; "the thought that it was yours alone kept me from killing him!"

We have read somewhere of a man who, if he saw a crawfish, became perfectly limp and helpless, while the perspiration streamed from his face. The writer's brother has so strong a dislike to beet-root that a tish of it placed near him will not only destroy all appetite, but cause him to turn pale and feel faint.

Boyle, philosopher though he was, tells us himself that he was unable to overcome his aversion to the sound of a jet of water splashing from a pipe. He records the case of a man whose antipathy to honey was so great that a poultice of which it was an ingredient applied to his foot made him ill. He mentions that a servant of his could never hear a knife sharpened, or a sheet of brown paper torn, without bleeding at the gums. Chesne, Secretary to Francis I, would bleed at the nose at the sight of apples. Jean Jacques Rousseau writes of a Parisian lady who was always seized with uncontrollable and violent laughter at the sound of any music. A friend of the writer is affected obversely; at the sound of a barrel-organ it is only by the strongest effort of will that she refrains from sobbing and shrieking aloud. The aversion in this case is only to barrel-organs; street-pianos do not disturb her peace more than to the usual extent. Another lady friend at the touch of a russet apple shudders and has all her teeth set on edge.

It may be said that the majority of the above-mentioned cases, curious as they undoubtedly are, are mental or nervous antipathies; constitutional and deep-seated, perhaps, but still affecting only the nervous system.

IMPORTANT

—TO—

OWNERS AND BUYERS OF REAL-ESTATE!

THE OFFICIAL CALL LIST

—OF THE—

LOS ANGELES

Real-Estate and Stock Exchange

—IS ISSUED DAILY—

For Free Circulation.

The CALL LIST contains descriptions of improved and unimproved real-estate and securities listed by authority, and offered for sale to bidders willing to pay a fair market price. These properties are bought or sold only on commission by responsible real-estate brokers, bound by the rules and regulations of the Exchange to protect their customers against misrepresentation, fraudulent or defective titles, extortion in prices, and the thousand and one tricks of unscrupulous and irresponsible dealers.

The principal function of the Exchange is to establish and maintain real-estate values in the mutual interest of both buyer and seller. This can only be accomplished by actually closing transactions in open session of the Exchange and making a public record of the bids, of the prices asked by holders, and of the sales, by which means stability is given to the real-estate market, and the fullest protection is extended to all parties concerned.

Those who have property for sale, listed on the Exchange, are guaranteed the full market value of their real-estate, of which they have no assurance without the facilities which a well-regulated Exchange always affords to investors.

Intending buyers are secured against extortion, by the daily publication of the Real-Estate Exchange quotations on all classes of property, without which information they are frequently induced to pay far more than the actual market value of the property purchased.

The rules and regulations and blank forms of the Los Angeles Real-Estate and Stock Exchange have been copyrighted, and all persons infringing such copyrights will be proceeded against according to law.

The lobby of the Board Room, at No. 15 1/2 South Spring street, next to the Nadeau House, is free to the public. Two sessions of the Exchange are held daily, at 10:30 o'clock a.m. and 3 o'clock p.m.

The Official Call List is distributed free by the Exchange messengers, or can be had free on application to the Secretary, at the office of the Exchange, No. 15 1/2 South Spring street, or to any member of the Exchange, to whom all intending investors or home-seekers are respectfully referred for full and complete information as to values, terms and conditions of sale and all other details relating to the properties duly listed on the Exchange.

THE NEW SEA TERROR.

A GLIMPSE OF LIEUT. ZALINSKI'S DYNAMITE CRUISER.

A Monster That Promises to Clean Out the Navies of the World—To Carry 28,200 Pounds of Dynamite—Ugly Customer.

(Inter-Ocean.)

Lieut. Zalinski's dynamite cruiser, that is being built by William Cramp & Sons at their Richmond shipyard, will be launched probably during March next. Four weeks ago its keel was laid, and now it looks like the skeleton of some marine monster held up by scaffolding, on which men are perched, who make the yard resound with the heavy blows of their hammers as the steel bones are put in place.

The cruiser is very much like a torpedo boat, with the exception of its gun and gun-firing arrangements. It will carry 20,000 pounds of explosive gelatine, which is equal to 28,200 pounds of dynamite. This will allow it to fire about 200 times without seeking more ammunition, each charge consisting of 200 pounds of gelatine in a sixty-pound projectile.

While Zalinski was studying the plans of the boat the other day up at Cramps', and speaking of the terrible destruction that he expects to accomplish when the United States has its next war, some one asked him if he didn't think that it would take brave men to travel about in company with ten tons or so of explosive gelatine. The opinion was hazarded that a cannon ball striking the cruiser's side might detonate its cargo and terminate its existence and that of its crew.

"Pooh," replied the gallant Lieutenant, "there won't be much danger of that. The stuff must be properly handled, of course. Look here," and the legalized dynamiter put his hand in his pocket and pulled out about half a pound of the gelatine, which he carries around with him. There was a panic.

MEASUREMENT OF THE VESSEL.

The cruiser is not yet named. She is now known as Hull 254. She will be of about 750 tons displacement, her length will be 246 feet and her beam 20 feet. Her 3500 horse-power triple expansion engines are expected to drive twin screws at a rate sufficiently fast to give her a speed of twenty knots an hour. That is the rapidity demanded by the specifications, and every effort will be made to fulfill it. She will carry three 11-inch bore pneumatic dynamite guns. These are each 54 feet long. The breeches are near the bottom of the boat, close to the center, and the barrels run obliquely to the deck, above which they project. The muzzles point upward, the plan of firing being similar to that of mortars.

From the plans seen at Cramps' the boat will have a business-like air and an appearance not altogether inartistic. She will be built sharp almost as a hatchet. Like a monitor she will carry no sails or masts. Everything about her except the wooden covering to the armored deck and the cabin fixtures will be of steel. In the very heart of the boat, underneath the conning tower—which will also be of solid metal—will be stored the explosive gelatine. It will be in a position handy to the gunners, but far away from the quarters of either officers or crew. Near it and handy to the breech of the guns will be the chamber of compressed air, the projecting power of the gun. The stern is taken up by the officers' quarters. Between them and the magazine and gun-room will be the machinery. The crew's quarters are forward. The entire cost of the vessel will be $550,000.

PROGRESS OF THE WORK.

While one set of workmen are constructing the others ribs are making the boilers and forging the armor plates. The woodworking department is not idle either, but is preparing to fashion the small portions of wood that the cruiser will use. A member of the shipbuilding firm complained yesterday of the difficulty of obtaining in sufficient quantities the high grade of steel required by the Government for the construction of its men-of-war. He said that ordinarily a cruiser like the Zalinski—it has been suggested that that might be its name—should not take more than eight weeks to build, whereas the dynamite boat would probably take seven months altogether. The firm had waited since January last for material.

The efficiency of the Zalinski gun was shown a few days ago at Ft. Lafayette. An old and condemned coastal survey schooner, the Silliman, fought four rounds with the gun at a distance of 1800 yards. The pressure of air at which the shots were fired was 600 to 607 pounds per square inch, and the charge of glycerine for the first two shots weighed fifty-five pounds. These two practically destroyed the ship, but two more were fired for the fun of reducing her to kindling wood.

An Opportunity Seldom Offered.

The Santa Fe Railroad Company are largely interested in the new town of Santa Fe Springs, at Fulton Wells. Consequently, all the projected improvements will be rapidly pushed until completed. This is the only resort within seventy miles of Los Angeles where first-class medicinal springs are found. It will, therefore, always be filled with health-seekers. The enterprising firm of Byram & Pindexter have secured 200 acres immediately adjoining the best side of the town of Santa Fe Springs, and will sell no town lots at all. They offer it only in blocks of four to ten acres, at low acre prices, on easy terms. This gives buyers an opportunity to make handsome villa homes or small farms, just beside a railroad depot, handsome new hotel and other extensive improvements. Any purchaser of this property can double his money by subdividing into lots. Call on us for maps and further particulars. Byram & Pindexter, 27 West First street, Los Angeles.

Important Notice.

Arrangements have been made to run a hack from Main and Spring streets to the Sisters Hospital, where it will make connection with the dummy running to Ivanhoe. Parties wanting to procure tickets, can get them at Byram & Pindexter's, No. 27 West First street.

SUBDIVISION OF

THE OSTRICH FARM!

Los Felis Rancho.

One Hundred Acres Placed on Sale, Divided Into Building Lots 50x150 Feet,

AND A FEW FIVE-ACRE PLOTS.

Such an opportunity is seldom offered. The soil is a rich alluvial deposit twenty feet deep. Drainage perfect, being gentle slope to the river.

All Under Los Angeles Irrigating Ditch.

Well water at any depth from four to thirty feet from surface. This tract lies in the FINEST SCENERY IN LOS ANGELES COUNTY, having the towns of Glendale and Verdugo and the Sierra Madre Mountains in front, and the lovely evergreen Los Felis range of mountains rising 1500 feet from the tract at the rear, with the Los Angeles river running immediately between, making this a PERFECT AMPHITHEATRE OF RURAL BEAUTY. The OSTRICH FARM RAILROAD is now running to the tract. Trains run into the city in twenty minutes and as often as necessary. Business men will find this the most convenient place for suburban residences, as the early trains will enable them to be at their places of business sooner than the horse cars from East Los Angeles or Washington Gardens.

The OSTRICH FARM will continue to be the attractive feature of this locality, and the ZOOLOGICAL GARDENS are now being added to and laid out in a style which will make this the MOST ATTRACTIVE RESORT IN SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA. This tract is three miles nearer Los Angeles than Burbank and two miles from Ivanhoe.

Sales to Commence Wednesday, Oct. 19, 1887.

LA PRESA!

The Beautiful Swiss Village on Lake Como

BEING REPRODUCED IN SAN DIEGO.

The most novel thing yet undertaken in the development of this southern country is now being done at LA PRESA, nine miles from San Diego. The plan is to reproduce in that delightful spot the counterpart of the celebrated Swiss village on Lake Como, in Northern Italy. To this end a railroad is being built to the place, and a fine modern hotel is to be erected at once. The situation is most delightful; far enough removed from the sea to escape rough winds, yet near enough to be always cool. With pure water, fine scenery, and the best of soil, LA PRESA is just the place to invest for a quick turn with big profits. LA PRESA is sure to grow rapidly, as it has all the elements to attract a select class of settlers.

Lots are Sold for the Low Price of $100 to $125 Each.
